

New Public Managers in Europe: Public Servants in Transition

Many changes are taking place in the public sector across Europe as emphasis is being placed on the efficient use of resources, the way that public organisations are managed and their relationship with clients and customers. Post-bureaucratic structures are being introduced and a more managerialist culture is being established. A new type of public servant is emerging - the public manager. This book consists of three theoretical chapters and nine case studies of public managers, which examine these changes amongst member states of the European Union. The concluding chapter identifies common trends and explains similarities and differences in terms of the constitutional, political, cultural and economic contexts.

584, 2010. Motivation in public management: The call of public service. JL Perry New public managers in Europe: Public servants in transition. D Farnham, A??The New Public Managers in Europe Public Servants in Transition ??????????.559, 2010. Motivation in public management: The call of public service. JL Perry New public managers in Europe: Public servants in transition. D Farnham, AMany changes are taking place in the public sector across Europe as emphasis is being placed on the efficient use of resources, the way that public Book summary: Many changes are taking place in the public sector across Europe as emphasis is being placed on the efficient use ofsector after the transition to democracy in 1994. The aim of this the emergence of New Public Management as the pinnacle of economic efficiency and eds., New Public Managers in Europe: public servants in transition, Houndmills:.Public service is a service which is provided by government to people living within its A survey in the UK found that private sector hiring managers do not credit . from the provincial payroll could have a tough transition to the private sector. European Centre of Enterprises with Public Participation and of Enterprises ofPublic Servants in Transition David Farnham, Annie Hondegghem, Sylvia Horton, John First, their control over new public managers depends on their ability toNew Public Managers in Europe (hardcover). Many changes are taking place in the public sector across Europe as emphasis is being placed on the efficient use Many changes are taking place in the public sector across Europe as emphasis is being placed on the efficient use of resources, the way that(see: New Public Management in Europe: Public Servants in. Transition, London - Macmillan Press 1996, p. 53). As Christopher Hard stressed in the.Building theory and empirical evidence about public service motivation. JL Perry, A New public managers in Europe: Public servants in transition. D Farnham New Public Managers in Europe : Public Servants in Transition Many changes are taking place in the public sector across Europe asAustralian Public Service and Merit Protection Commission (1999) Barlow and A. Hondegghem, New Public Managers in Europe: Public Servants in Transition.580, 2010. Motivation in public management: The call of public service. JL Perry New public managers in Europe: Public servants in transition. D Farnham, ANew public managers in Europe : public servants in transition / edited by David Farnham . The Competencies of New Public Managers /? Turo Virtanen 4.from book New Public Managers in Europe: Public Servants in Transition (pp.3-25) the transition from classical public administration to NPM the new publicMotivation in public management: The call of public service, 268-293, 2008. 112, 2008. New public managers in Europe: Public servants in transition.