

Exposure Behind Closed Doors

EXPOSURE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS is centered around one earth-shattering week in the life of New Orleans Police Lieutenant, Grieco Storm. A police detective whose passions and convictions run as deep and sizzling as the sultry city he is bound by duty and honor to protect.

The discovery of arsenic found in the blood-systems of two International Super Models, Johna Bauer and Ursula Rhee; initially ruled accidental prescription drug overdoses by the city's shady coroner, is what initiated a secret branch of the Justice Department to get involved. Not only was the State of Louisiana suddenly faced with the very real possibility of a serial killer being on the loose in their Historical City, but it was suddenly faced with a potential scandal of such magnitude that it could rock New Orleans back several decades, politically, on its ear! . Explosive evidence was found linking New Orleans District Attorney, Parker Huston, and Presidential hopeful; an almost certain shoe-in candidate, Governor Jeremy York to both young women shortly before their deaths. Other evidence, linking them to a relationship with the two Super Models, was also discovered during a routine investigation of the young women's apartments. Both high-profile men, along with several other men of authority, position, and power-supreme were mentioned as well, in the two young women's secret diaries. The discovery of the two diaries shed a new light, and several very good reasons why someone had wanted to see the young women dead. The diaries went into great detail with tales of top-secret conversations disclosed during a little pillow talk. Names, dates, times, locations, and gifts received for the exchange of sexual favors, and so forth and so on.

Because of the serious implications involving so many high-powered, influential, and well-financed men mentioned in the two diaries, Top Brass Officials; Top Dog, Sony Bileti, former Brick Agent for the F.B.I. and second in command; former Black Bag Expert, Jack Beaman select a handful of local experts to do a top secret investigation into the two young Super Models deaths Johna Bauer and Ursula Rhees families, friends, and general J.Q. Public, as well as the New Orleans Mayor, District Attorney, and Governor, would not be told about the new findings on the two young women The original ruling of accidental death would be played out- At least until after the killer had been caught
