

RE-EDITED VERSION JUNE 2014 'I'm standing here, on top of the building and I need to remind myself to breathe. It's not like I haven't done this 146 times before. It's not like I'm not the best in the business. I am the best at this because as sick as it sounds, I want to be here. I love doing what I do. I can tell you that I've been in this line of work for the last thirteen years. I didn't quite fall into it, I actually sought it out. I am undoubtedly the best in the industry. I'm respected amongst all the big players. I am the biggest player of them all. If a rookie tried to come along and show me up as an example of their capabilities, it didn't take long for me to work out what they were about. There's no hesitation. No second thoughts. No doubts. No emotions. No feelings.' ~ Anna Brookes Anna Brookes is the most dangerous woman that you hope you will never know. Her life of danger started the day she turned 15. The thirteen years that follow shapes her life to become the most deadly and lethal woman. HiT 149 becomes her most difficult target. Does she pull the trigger or does she risk becoming the target herself?
